A Golden Legacy of Eloquence: 50 Years of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition

The Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition stands as a unique national academic tradition rooted in the values of ethical leadership, social responsibility, and Gandhian philosophy. Instituted under the aegis of Shiksha Mandal, Wardha, this prestigious competition has, for the past five decades, provided a powerful platform for young minds from universities across India to engage in critical thinking, articulate social concerns, and uphold the ideals of Mahatma Gandhi and his contemporaries.

The year 2026 marks the Golden Jubilee, celebrating 50 glorious years of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition. What began as a modest initiative has evolved into a nationally respected intellectual forum, nurturing generations of students who have gone on to become thinkers, leaders, administrators, academicians, and socially conscious citizens.

Held annually on the birth anniversary of Late Shri Kamalnayan Bajaj, the competition is a tribute to his unwavering commitment to Gandhian values, constructive work, and nation-building. Each year's theme has reflected the changing socio-economic, political, and moral challenges of India, while remaining anchored in timeless ethical principles.

Theme of the Golden Jubilee Year (2026)

Why Gandhi Lives On?

गांधी आज भी क्यों जीवित हैं?

The theme for the Golden Jubilee year invites participants to reflect on the enduring relevance of Mahatma Gandhi in a rapidly changing world. It encourages deep introspection on how Gandhian thought continues to influence contemporary society, governance, education, economics, and individual conduct.

As this book commemorates five decades of intellectual dialogue and youthful expression, it documents not merely a chronological history but a living legacy of ideas, debates, and convictions that have shaped the conscience of generations.

This Golden Jubilee celebration is therefore not only a moment of remembrance, but also a reaffirmation of the competition's founding vision—to inspire young voices to speak with clarity, courage, and conscience.

Introduction

As we commemorate the Golden Jubilee of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition, we celebrate not merely an event, but a distinguished intellectual tradition that has shaped discourse, nurtured leadership, and inspired generations of young thinkers. Spanning five decades, this competition has established itself as one of the most enduring and respected national platforms for the art of public speaking, critical inquiry, and thoughtful engagement with issues of national and global relevance.

It was instituted in 1975 in honour of Late Shri Kamalnayan Bajaj—Architect of the Bajaj group, President of Shiksha Mandal (1952-72), Eminent Parliamentarian (1957-72), visionary philanthropist, and steadfast satyagrahi.

The competition reflects his resolute belief in the transformative power of education and public dialogue. His commitment to nation-building, ethical leadership, and social progress continues to resonate through this initiative, which remains rooted in the Gandhian values upheld by Shiksha Mandal, Wardha.

The Competition, represents one of the most distinguished and enduring intellectual traditions nurtured within India's educational landscape. Conceived during a period of significant social, political, and economic transformation, the competition emerged from the foresight of Shiksha Mandal, Wardha—an institution committed to promoting values-based education and responsible citizenship.

From its inception, the objective was clear and purposeful: to cultivate articulate, informed, and socially responsible youth who could think critically, communicate persuasively, and contribute meaningfully to national development. There always is a pressing need for platforms that encouraged young minds to engage deeply with contemporary issues. This competition answered that need by providing an avenue for students to articulate their views with courage, clarity, and conviction. What began as a modest effort to encourage meaningful expression among students has evolved into a far-reaching movement that spans states, universities, and cultures. Over the years, the competition has attracted participation from distinguished academic institutions across India and Nepal, drawing students who bring with them diverse perspectives, sharp intellect, and a sincere desire to contribute to societal conversations. The themes explored through these speeches—ranging from sustainability and governance to ethics, education, and human development—mirror the changing challenges of the nation. To sum, it has become a national intellectual tradition.

The competition's growth has been qualitative. Its consistent emphasis on clarity of thought, depth of understanding, and relevance of themes has strengthened its reputation as a forum where young speakers are encouraged not only to present arguments but to engage in reflective, responsible dialogue. With each passing year, the competition has contributed to enhancing students' social awareness, communication skills, and awareness of civic duties, thereby preparing them for leadership roles in a rapidly evolving world.

For almost 40 years the event focussed on the ideas of Gandhiji and Vinobaji. Then the themes became broader, forward looking, on pressing issues. But such is the power and foresight of Gandhi & Vinoba, that students would come to them to deal with the theme. Evolution is necessary for survival and growth and it has been increasingly our endeavour to stay ahead of the curve. For the students to reflect on emerging issues which the world would become alive to tomorrow.

In a world of increasing cynicism and self-absorption the event at Wardha, by exposing them to the legacy of the freedom struggle and social movements of Wardha and the culture of Shiksha Mandal, makes them pause, even if for a moment, and reflect on their view of the world. Many a times students tell us that their lives can be divided into before Wardha and after Wardha.

The Golden Jubilee offers an occasion to acknowledge this extraordinary journey of fifty years—marked by dedication, evolution, and collective effort. It is a moment to honour the thousands of students who have graced this stage; the mentors, who nurtured their potential; and the judges, organizers, and volunteers whose commitment has ensured the competition's continuity and excellence.

As we step into the next era, the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition stands as a living testament to the enduring power of ideas and the importance of informed dialogue. It continues to inspire voices that question, reflect, and lead—voices that carry forward the spirit of thoughtful engagement envisioned five decades ago.

Foundation & Legacy

Mahatma Gandhi: The Power of Truth, Dialogue, and Moral Courage

Mahatma Gandhi transformed political leadership by placing ethical conduct and moral persuasion at the centre of public life, making it the basis for changing of attitudes and behaviour and transforming thought into community action. For Gandhiji, freedom was not merely political independence, but the moral awakening of individuals and society.

Key Ideas of Gandhiji Relevant to the Elocution Tradition:

- Satya (Truth): Truth as the highest moral principle, to be pursued through thought, speech, and action
- Ahimsa (Non-violence): Not passive resistance, but active moral courage
- Swaraj: Self-rule rooted in self-discipline and responsibility
- Sarvodaya: The welfare of all, especially the weakest sections of society
- Constructive Programme: Nation-building through education, village upliftment and social reform

Gandhiji believed that speech carries responsibility—words must enlighten, unite, and inspire reform rather than inflame or divide. His insistence on clarity of thought and integrity of expression continues to guide the ethos of this national elocution platform.

Wardha, where Gandhiji established Sevagram Ashram, became a living laboratory of his ideas. It was here that several national movements, discussion on post-independence policies, and constructive initiatives took shape—making Wardha a fitting home for a competition dedicated to principled public expression.

Acharya Vinoba Bhave: Dialogue, Compassion, and the Power of Persuasion

Acharya Vinoba Bhave, Gandhiji's spiritual successor, expanded the Gandhian vision from political struggle to moral and social transformation. A scholar, thinker, and saint, Vinobaji demonstrated how gentle persuasion and dialogue could bring about lasting change.

Key Ideas of Acharya Vinoba Bhave:

- Bhoodan and Gramdan Movement: Voluntary land redistribution based on moral appeal
- Sarvodaya through Dialogue: Change through empathy, discussion, and inner conviction
- Spiritual Democracy: Equality rooted in human dignity, not force
- Education for Character: Learning that shapes values, not merely careers
- Self-reflection and Simplicity: Personal transformation as the basis of social reform

Vinobaji's journeys on foot across India, speaking directly to people in villages, exemplified the transformative power of spoken words—calm, reasoned, and compassionate. His approach reinforces the belief that true leadership speaks to conscience, not authority. Paramdham Ashram at Pavnar, near Wardha, remains a living centre of Vinobaji's thought and continues to inspire.

Role of the Bajaj Family in Nation-Building

The legacy of the Bajaj family has been integral to India's journey of nation-building—from the freedom struggle to the shaping of modern industry and philanthropy. Their contributions extend across manufacturing, social reform, education, healthcare, and community development, reflecting a rare combination of entrepreneurial excellence and moral and social responsibility.

By persuading Gandhiji to move to Wardha Jamnalal Bajajji transformed Wardha and his family. He was the backbone that supported Sevagram Ashram and a host of other Gandhiji's initiatives. Wardha became the fulcrum of the national independence movement in the 1930s and 1940s. This sleepy district town became during this period the moral, intellectual and political capital of the country.

RAMKRISHNA BAJAJ
1923 - 1994

JAMNALAL BAJAJ
1889 - 1942

Jamnalal Bajaj's exemplary life set the foundation for a value-centric corporate and social culture. His vision, grounded in Gandhian ideals, was carried forward by Shri Kamalnayan Bajaj, who expanded the family's industrial enterprises while ensuring that business remained deeply connected to national priorities, self-reliance, consumer interest and employment and wealth generation.

Instituting a national elocution competition in Kamalnayanji's memory was a natural extension of this ethos. It signified the Bajaj family's enduring belief that empowering young voices—giving them the skills, confidence, and awareness to engage with societal challenges—is fundamental to building a stronger nation.

Over the past five decades, the competition has become a testament to that belief. Thousands of students have participated, developed leadership capabilities, broadened their perspectives, and embraced values of integrity and civic responsibility. Many among them have gone on to become educators, civil servants, administrators, journalists, entrepreneurs, and community leaders—continuing the larger legacy envisioned by the Bajaj family.

Shiksha Mandal – A Heritage of Learning

A Legacy Rooted in National Service (Since 1914)

Shiksha Mandal, Wardha, founded in 1914 by the eminent trader, philanthropist, and freedom fighter Late Shri Jamnalal Bajaj, occupies a distinguished place in India's educational and nation-building history. Established during a period marked by intense social and political awakening, the institution was envisioned as a centre of learning that would align education with national service, social consciousness, and moral integrity.

From its earliest days, Shiksha Mandal embraced an educational philosophy inspired by Mahatma Gandhi's ideals—truth, simplicity, self-reliance, and service to humanity. As one of Gandhiji's closest associates, Jamnalalji imbued the institution with his own deep commitment to constructive work and the nation's upliftment. Education here was not merely about academic instruction; it was about shaping individuals who would serve society with character, competence, and compassion.

Over the decades, Shiksha Mandal has remained steadfast in this mission. It has evolved into a respected academic group known for fostering intellectual growth, ethical leadership, and socially responsible citizenship. Generations of students educated under its umbrella have contributed significantly to fields such as commerce, agriculture, technology, management, rural development, and social work—upholding the institution's vision.

Milestones across the Decades

The journey of Shiksha Mandal has been marked by visionary initiatives and landmark achievements that reflect its progressive outlook and deep-rooted commitment to national development:

1914: Establishment of Shiksha Mandal, laying the foundation for a holistic and socially relevant education system.

1919: Established the Navbharat Vidyalaya, which is now the Bajaj Science College. Dr. Edward Arnayakam, a Columbia trained Sri Lankan was its Principal in the 1930s. He later founded the Nayi Talim University at Sevagram, Wardha.

1937: Hosted India's first National Education Conference in Wardha—an event chaired by Gandhiji, that brought together leading educationists, policy thinkers, and national leaders, reinforcing the institution's role in shaping the country's educational discourse.

1940-50: Under the leadership of Acharya Shriman Narayan, started Central India's first Commerce Colleges which taught in Hindi and Marathi medium, a pioneering step that expanded access to professional education.

1950s–1970s: Period of institutional expansion with new colleges and programs in Science, Rural Services, Agriculture, and Management, responding to emerging national priorities.

2014: Celebration of Shiksha Mandal's Centenary, graced by the Hon'ble President of India, Shri Pranab Mukherjee—an acknowledgment of its enduring contribution to education and society.

2015: Recognition as the “Ideal Educational Institution” by Rashtrosant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University, validating its consistent commitment to academic excellence and ethical governance.

2017: Establishment of the Bajaj Institute of Technology (BIT), a state-of-the-art engineering institution symbolizing Shiksha Mandal's commitment to future-oriented, industry-aligned technical education.

Today, Shiksha Mandal administers eight colleges, each a leader in its field, collectively educating more than 10,000 students annually. With every passing decade, the institution has embraced innovation while staying anchored to its founding values, making it one of the region's most respected educational groups.

The Elocution Competition – Journey of 50 Years

A Legacy of Expression and Thought Leadership

The Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition, instituted in 1975, has grown into one of India's longest-running and most respected intellectual forums for students. Conceived to encourage articulate, value-driven, and socially conscious youth, the competition emerged from Shiksha Mandal's deep commitment to education rooted in Gandhian philosophy and constructive citizenship.

Over five decades, the competition has become a symbol of disciplined thought, eloquence, and national engagement. What began as a modest initiative inspired by the ideals of truth, non-violence, and public service has now become an enduring national tradition—where young voices from across the country gather to express ideas that shape public consciousness.

From a Local Initiative to a National Stage

In its formative years, the elocution competition primarily witnessed participation from colleges in Wardha and the larger Vidarbha region. The clarity of its vision, coupled with the intellectual integrity with which it was conducted, led to steady expansion. By the early 1980s, institutions from neighbouring states began participating, gradually transforming the event into a significant regional platform.

By the 1990s, the competition had evolved into a truly national event, attracting entries from universities across the breadth of India—covering metropolitan, rural, and remote regions alike. Students from diverse linguistic, cultural, and intellectual backgrounds converged in Wardha, reinforcing the competition's ethos of unity in thought and diversity in expression.

Today, institutions from North, South, East, West, and the Northeast participate regularly, making the competition a vibrant panorama of India's intellectual youth. Many foreign students pursuing education in India have also been part of this journey, enriching the platform with global perspectives. This transformation from a local initiative to a national movement reflects the timeless relevance of Gandhiji's teachings and the Bajaj family's unwavering commitment to nurturing informed and responsible public dialogue.

Integration of the Quiz on Gandhiji and Vinoba Bhave

Recognising that true public expression must be anchored in knowledge and reflection, Shiksha Mandal introduced the Quiz on Gandhiji and Acharya Vinoba Bhave as a complementary segment of the competition. This addition deepened the academic and philosophical richness of the event.

Students were encouraged to engage with seminal texts, understand Gandhian experiments in constructive work, and explore Vinoba Bhave's transformative initiatives such as Sarvodaya, Bhoodan, Gramdan, and the world peace mission.

The quiz soon emerged as a distinctive component, appreciated for its rigor, educational value, and its ability to ignite curiosity about India's socio-moral heritage. It ensured that participants not only spoke eloquently but also thought critically, researched thoroughly, and internalised the values that guided India's freedom movement and nation-building journey.

These experiences transform the competition from a mere academic event into a holistic, reflective, and deeply impactful journey. Participants carry with them not only memories but also renewed commitment to ethical leadership and nation-building.

A Five-Decade Chronicle of Ideas, Voices, and National Spirit

The fifty-year journey of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition is, in essence, a chronicle of India's youth engaging with the challenges and aspirations of their time. Thousands of students have taken this stage to voice their understanding of social justice, peace, national development, global concerns, and moral responsibility.

Many past participants have gone on to distinguished careers in public service, academia, journalism, law, entrepreneurship, and social work—carrying forward the values they articulated on this stage. The competition has thus contributed significantly to shaping voices that influence institutions, policies, and communities across the nation.

As the competition completes its Golden Jubilee, it stands not merely as a legacy event but as a testament to the enduring power of ideas, the strength of informed speech, and the faith that Shiksha Mandal places in the younger generation.

Notable Alumni Speakers

Over the past five decades, the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition has been shaped, enriched, and elevated by the thousands of young orators who have stepped onto its stage. Each participant—whether a finalist, a winner, or a first-time entrant—has contributed to the intellectual vibrancy and national relevance that define this competition. Their spirited engagement, informed perspectives, and commitment to meaningful discourse have helped transform the event into a distinguished national platform for expression.

While the competition has seen exceptional performances year after year, it is the journey of its alumni that truly reflects its long-standing impact. Many former participants have gone on to excel in diverse domains, including academia, public service, law, entrepreneurship, media, and social development. Their continued contributions to society demonstrate how early exposure to structured public speaking and analytical thinking can influence lifelong leadership capabilities.

Across generations, these alumni have carried forward the values championed by this competition—clarity of thought, intellectual integrity, empathy, and civic responsibility. Their achievements stand as a testament to the transformative power of elocution as a discipline and the enduring legacy of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition.

As we celebrate the Golden Jubilee Year, this section honours the voices that once echoed through our halls and have since resonated across the country in their respective fields. Their journeys continue to inspire the next generation of speakers and reaffirm the purpose with which this competition was initiated fifty years ago: to nurture articulate, aware, and responsible citizens.

Reflections from the Journey: Themes and Voices through the Years

Over the past fifty years, the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition has explored a rich spectrum of themes that reflect India's social conscience, intellectual currents, and moral aspirations. Each edition has engaged students with subjects that promote critical thinking, civic responsibility, and Gandhian values. From discourses on truth, non-violence, rural reconstruction, and Satyagraha to contemporary reflections on sustainable development, youth leadership, peacebuilding, ethical governance, and technology's impact on society, the competition's themes have consistently mirrored the evolving concerns of the nation.

These themes have not only encouraged participants to undertake deep scholarly inquiry but have also inspired them to examine their own beliefs, ideologies, and roles as responsible citizens. Many recall that their engagement with the themes introduced them to Gandhian literature, the Sarvodaya movement, and the thought of Acharya Vinoba Bhave—often forming the foundation of their lifelong interest in social reform, public service, or academia. The thematic journey of the competition stands as a testament to its enduring commitment to nurturing reflective minds and principled leaders.

“India’s Imbalanced Development- Causes and Solutions”

Reflections That Endure: Participant Experiences across Five Decades

For fifty years, thousands of students from across India have carried home not just certificates or medals, but memories that shaped their character and worldview. Their feedback—gathered over the decades—reveals the profound and lasting influence of the competition.

Participants consistently describe the competition as transformative, highlighting the discipline, research depth, and clarity of thought it demanded. Many recall how the rigorous preparation process helped them refine their public speaking ability and strengthened their confidence. The intellectual environment of Wardha, the heritage of Shiksha Mandal, and the exposure to Gandhian institutions left a lasting emotional imprint.

Former contestants fondly recount the camaraderie among participants, interactions with academicians and social leaders, the warmth of hospitality extended by Shiksha Mandal, and the unique cultural programmes curated for them. For many, the guided visits to Sevagram Ashram, Paramdham Ashram, and other historic sites offered a deeper understanding of India’s freedom movement and its values.

Several past participants reflect that the experience was a turning point in their academic and professional journeys—shaping careers in administration, academia, social work, and the corporate world. Even among those who did not secure a prize, the competition is remembered as a formative milestone that nurtured resilience, ethical grounding, and a sense of purpose.

Collectively, these memories constitute a living archive of inspiration. They represent the voices, emotions, friendships, and learning experiences that have enriched the competition’s five-decade legacy—making “Reflections from the Journey: Themes and Voices Through the Years” not just a retrospective section, but a celebration of the human spirit that the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition has elevated for half a century.

Wardha – Heart of the Freedom Movement

For more than a century, Wardha has occupied a place of profound national significance, shaping the course of India’s freedom movement and its intellectual, social, and constructive traditions. The Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition, held annually in this historic city, is enriched by this extraordinary legacy. Wardha is not merely the venue for the competition—it is a living classroom of India’s moral, political, and social transformation. At Wardha one can still touch and feel history, in a way that is no longer possible in any other place.

As the nation celebrates 50 years of this prestigious elocution competition, it is fitting to acknowledge the deep historical and cultural environment that has shaped generations of participants. The city’s Ashrams, institutions, and political landmarks have inspired countless young speakers to engage with themes related to truth, non-violence, national service, and constructive work.

Wardha's Enduring Historical Significance

Sevagram Ashram – Gandhiji's Home and Nerve Centre of National Movements

Founded by Mahatma Gandhi in 1936, Sevagram Ashram became the epicentre of major national political decisions and social experiments. From here, Gandhiji guided the country's freedom struggle, constructive work, promoted rural self-reliance, and shaped national discourse on education, sanitation, health, and self-sufficiency. For students visiting Wardha, Sevagram remains a space of deep reflection and inspiration.

Paramdham Ashram – Vinoba Bhave's Abode of Spiritual and Social Reform

Paramdham Ashram, associated with Acharya Vinoba Bhave, stands as a symbol of intellectual depth, moral clarity, and social harmony. The ashram was the birthplace of the historic Bhoodan Movement, which Vinobaji initiated in 1951, catalysing voluntary land donation across the nation. The environment continues to encourage inquiry, compassion, and the spirit of selfless service—values closely aligned with the ethos of this competition.

Geetai Mandir – A Temple of Peace and Spiritual Reflection

The Geetai Mandir, with its inscription of the entire Geetai of Vinoba on granite slabs is a unique tribute of the Bajaj family to Vinoba, their kulguru. It has no idol, or roof or walls and yet is a mandir! Redefines what is sacred, what is a temple, essentially a place of communion with God. The mandir's serene and mind-expanding precincts can only lead to contemplation. It also reflects the clarity of our pre-independence thinking, which was original and deep.

Laxminarayan Mandir

Originally a private temple of the Bajaj family, it came into national consciousness in 1928 as the first temple in the country to be open to all communities. Jamnalalji was responding to Gandhiji's call for removal of untouchability. Vinoba led the then untouchables into the temple. The Bajaj family faced social ostracism for this act, but remained undeterred.

Rashtra Bhasha Prachar Samiti – A Centre for Language, Literature, and National Integration

Established with the blessings of Mahatma Gandhi, the Samiti played a pivotal role in promoting Hindi as a link language across India. It became a vibrant centre for literary activity, publication, translation, and adult education. Its efforts strengthened national unity and democratic communication—principles that find resonance in the objectives of the elocution competition.

Gram Seva Mandal – A Hub of Rural Reconstruction

Founded under the guidance of Jamnalal Bajaj and later nurtured by Acharya Vinoba Bhave, Gram Seva Mandal became a laboratory for Khadi, village industries, sustainable farming, and rural upliftment. Its work reflects the Gandhian belief in self-sufficient villages and equitable growth. Participants who visit Wardha get a glimpse of India's rural development legacy through this institution.

Wardha's Role in Historic National Events

Wardha has witnessed landmark episodes in India's struggle for independence, including:

- The drafting of the Quit India Resolution
- Key meetings of the Congress Working Committee
- Intellectual exchanges among Gandhi, Vinoba, Nehru, Patel, and other national leaders.

These moments transformed Wardha into a crucible of national decision-making, shaping India's political trajectory and moral compass.

A Living Heritage for Young Minds

For the thousands of students who have participated in the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition over five decades, Wardha has been more than a venue. It has served as an immersive experience—offering history in its streets, philosophy in its ashrams, and inspiration in its tranquil yet powerful spaces. The city's legacy deepens the educational value of the competition and reinforces its grounding in truth, courage, and constructive citizenship.

Closing Section

The People, Passion, and Preparation That Make the Competition Possible

Every successful edition of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition is the result of countless hours of planning, coordination, and commitment. While the stage reflects eloquence, confidence, and spirited debate, the true foundation of this 50-year legacy rests behind the scenes—built quietly by individuals who work long before the first participant arrives and long after the last applause fades.

The Organising Team: Architects of Excellence

The Golden Jubilee of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition stands as a tribute to the dedication, discipline, and devotion of countless individuals who have shaped this event across decades.

- Designing competition rules, communication, and outreach
- Coordinating with universities and autonomous colleges across India
- Handling registrations, screening procedures, travel support, and accommodation
- Managing logistics—from venue preparation to hospitality
- Ensuring fairness, transparency, and smooth conduct of all rounds

Their work begins months in advance. Meetings, checklists, and detailed execution plans ensure that the competition evolves with time while remaining rooted in the values with which it began in 1975.

Pillars of Continuity – Long-Serving Contributors to KBMNEC

The enduring success and credibility of the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition over five decades would not have been possible without the unwavering commitment of individuals who have served the competition year after year, often across generations of students. Their contribution represents continuity, institutional memory, and an abiding belief in the transformative power of dialogue and ideas.

Over the years, several teaching and non-teaching staff members from the colleges of Shiksha Mandal have been closely associated with the organisation of this competition, serving on various committees—academic, screening, coordination, logistics, hospitality, cultural, and administration. Many among them have dedicated 15 years or more of continuous service, and continue to serve the institutions of Shiksha Mandal with the same sense of purpose and responsibility.

Equally noteworthy are those former faculty and staff members who, during their tenure with Shiksha Mandal, rendered 25 years or more of dedicated service to the Kamalnayan Bajaj Memorial National Elocution Competition. Even after retirement, their contribution continues to be remembered through the systems they built, the standards they established, and the values they upheld.

Their role has gone far beyond routine coordination. These individuals have:

- Preserved the ethos and discipline of the competition across decades
- Ensured consistency in academic rigour and fairness in evaluation
- Mentored younger committee members and student volunteers
- Adapted the competition to changing times while safeguarding its core values

This Golden Jubilee offers a fitting opportunity to place on record the names of these long-serving contributors—both those currently in service and those who served in earlier years—as a mark of respect, gratitude, and institutional recognition.

This section is dedicated to honouring:

- Members currently serving in Shiksha Mandal colleges who have contributed 15 years or more to KBMNEC committees.
- Former faculty and staff of Shiksha Mandal who were associated with KBMNEC committees for 25 years or more.

Their quiet dedication, sustained commitment, and belief in the mission of this competition form the invisible backbone of its 50-year journey. This legacy of service stands as a reminder that enduring institutions are built not only by visionaries, but also by those who faithfully carry the vision forward—year after year.

Gratitude to the Hands and Hearts Behind the 50-Year Legacy

Shiksha Mandal expresses its heartfelt appreciation to the organizing committees comprising teaching and non-teaching staff from all its constituent colleges, whose collective commitment ensures the seamless execution of this national event each year.

The event came into being because Acharya Shriman Narayan, the builder of Shiksha Mandal and of the support of the Bajaj family, at first Shri Ramkrishna Bajaj and then Shri Rahul Bajaj, the Presidents of Shiksha Mandal from 1972-1995 and 1995-2022 respectively.

We also acknowledge the tireless efforts of:

- The Managing Committee of Shiksha Mandal, for its guidance and vision
- Principals and faculty coordinators of all participating institutions across India
- Volunteers and student leaders, whose energy brings life to every session
- Technical and administrative staff, who work quietly behind the scenes
- Former organizers and alumni, who helped build the foundation we stand on today

To every individual—past and present—who has contributed to this purposeful endeavour, we offer our sincerest thanks and deepest gratitude. This Golden Jubilee is a celebration of the undying spirit of the event, to which all its stakeholders have contributed and we believe will continue to contribute. The logo of Shiksha Mandal is a “Samai”, a lit lamp. It is a light that burns fiercely for others and it will continue to do so to the end of time.
